POST OFFICE SITE CHOSEN

Wednesday by Officials at Washington.

JUDGE NORRIS PROPERTY

Selected for Location of Government Building.

Decision Late Today Brings to a Close the Fight That Has Waged for Weeks.

There now seems every probability that the property of Judge C. H. Norris at State and Church streets has been chosen as the site for the new federal building.

A special from Washington to this paper late this afternoon says:

"The contest over the postoffice site that has long waged in Marion was settled today. The treasury department selected for the site the property at the corner of Church and State streets."

Although the name of the owner of the property is not given, it is a moral certainty that the telegram means that the Norris property is the one chosen.

Without doubt this location will prove more satisfactory than any other plot of ground discussed during the last six months. It seemingly has every advantage required by the federal authorities and is about the most central of any of the locations thus far suggested.

When asked about the matter today Judge Norris said that he had personally received no information relative to the matter.

ROBERT HAS A BAD TEMPER

So Mrs. Bahre Asks for a Divorce.

SHAMED AND DISGRACED

Was Wife by the Husband's False Accusations.

Petition for Foreclosure Filed by Katie Powell Against Joseph and Martha Rowe—Court News

Through her attorneys Copeland and Bartram, Anna F. Bahre Wednesday filed a petition for alimony against Robert Bahre. The petition avers that they were married in San Francisco on August 1, 1894 and one child, Clara Ruth Bahre, now eleven years old, was born of this union.

The plaintiff claims that the defendant has been guilty of gross neglect of duty for more than three years. She alleges that he has on numerous occasions, falsely and knowingly accused her of improper relations with other men; that these insults have been heaped upon her, not only when they were alone, but in the presence of their child and also when strangers were present. All of which was calculated to shame and disgrace and humiliate her.

She further says that the defendant has an ungovernable temper and seeks in every manner to harass and annoy and worry her, until conditions have become unbearable, and she has been compelled to abandon their home and seek a living for herself. It is further alleged that the defendant is a strong and able-bodied man and well able to earn $2 per day. It is also claimed that they jointly own a piece of property worth $1500 in the south end of the city, the wife alleging that she furnished $600 toward paying for it.

She asks that the husband be enjoined from encumbering the property or disposing of it; that she be given reasonable alimony pending suit and that the custody of the child be awarded her.

Judge Young issued a temporary restraining order.

A petition for foreclosure was filed Wednesday by Jacoby and Donihen for Katie Powell against Joseph J. Rowe, and Martha Alice Rowe. The petition relates that on July 6, 1905, the defendants executed a note for $1384 which was given to the plaintiff and the payment of which was secured by a mortgage on a lot on East Church street.

One of the conditions of the mortgage was that $16 should be paid every month. It is claimed that the defendants are now in default for four months and according to the conditions, the note is now due. The plaintiff therefore asks judgment for $1280.08, the amount remaining unpaid, and asks that the mortgage be foreclosed, the property sold and her claim paid out of the proceeds of the sale.

A petition was filed in the court of common pleas Wednesday afternoon by Crissinger and Guthery for Frank G. Norton against the Fairbanks Steam Shovel Company. The case comes into the common pleas court on appeal from Justice Herman Blach's court.

The plaintiff claims that on May 1, 1903, he entered the employ of the defendant company as its treasurer, and performed all the duties of that office for a period of 29 months. He claims that he had charge of the books and all financial transactions; that his services in that capacity were reasonably worth $100 per month and that during that period he solicited subscriptions for the sale, and did sell several thousand dollars worth of stock in the company at par value.

He claims that for his services he has received $1780.50 and there is still due the sum of $291.50, for which he asks judgment.

The county commissioners were out on the line of the Paden ditch near Brush Ridge Wednesday morning. The ditch was petitioned for some time ago and the commissioners have granted the prayer for improvement. A final hearing will be held February 21.

Railroad Notes

Three Erie box cars were side swiped in the Erie's west yards this morning and badly wrecked. The cars were standing on a siding. The brakes had not been properly set, allowing them to drift into the main track and the first switch engine that happened along smashed into them. The Gatton wrecking crew cleared the wreck.

The big Erie ice house is almost empty and as soon as it is possible to secure sufficiently heavy ice, the work of refilling it will begin.

Petero Elias, an Italian section-man employed on the Erie, sustained painful injuries while at work Tuesday. In attempting to raise a heavy steel rail, he lost his hold and the rail fell upon the fingers of the right hand badly crushing them.
